Score Choice™ Overview

Designed to reduce student stress and improve the test-day experience, Score Choice™ is a new score-reporting feature that gives students the option to choose the SAT® scores by test date and SAT Subject Test scores by individual test that they send to colleges, in accordance with each institution's stated score-use practice. Score Choice is optional, and if students choose not to use it, all scores will be sent automatically.

Different colleges use test scores in different ways, and we recognize that a one-size-fits-all approach to college admissions does not reflect the diverse needs of colleges and universities. The College Board has enabled participating colleges to display their SAT score-use practices directly to students on collegeboard.com. This information will be presented at the time that students are asked to send scores.

Students will be encouraged to follow the score-reporting requirements of each college to which they apply, but their scores will not be released for admission purposes without their specific consent. Colleges and universities will only receive the scores that students send them.

In order to help students make an informed choice about the scores they send, we've collected SAT score-use practices from every college, university or scholarship program that chose to provide us with the requested information.

Please note:

1. The SAT score-use practices referenced in Score Choice materials are based on information provided to us by only participating colleges or scholarship programs.
2. The description of a particular SAT score-use practice might not include every aspect of how an institution or program uses a student's score. Additionally, SAT score-use practices for a particular college or scholarship program may change periodically and may not be automatically updated in the score-reporting system. Therefore, we recommend that students check with the college or scholarship program to which they are sending SAT scores to confirm its SAT score-use practice for the academic year for which they plan to apply.
